

Writers! Artists! Photographers!

Would you like to publish your work in an international magazine?

Are you aged 25 or less?

You could write a story, news article, poem, song, or short fictional story about what you think of education.

You could draw a picture, take a photo, or even design a poster that tells us about your experience of school.

We want to know how good your school is at helping all young people to learn.

We want to read about what it is like when you cannot go to school, or when you do not like going to school.

The magazine is called Enabling Education Review and it is published by EENET.

In 2017 EENET is publishing an edition about:
'Young People's Views on Inclusive Education'

What do you need to do?

To find out more information, talk to this person:

Name: _____

Where to find them: _____

Or email your questions to EENET in Manchester, England:
info@eenet.org.uk

You can visit EENET's website at: www.eenet.org.uk