

An information sharing network with membership open to all

The Enabling Education Network

EENET
www.eenet.org.uk

Meet just a few of the people around the world who network with EENET

In Brazil, Ed Todos fosters conversations and debates about teacher training and the role of higher education in the development of inclusive education systems.

EENET creates conversations about inclusive education

We help people document and share their experiences

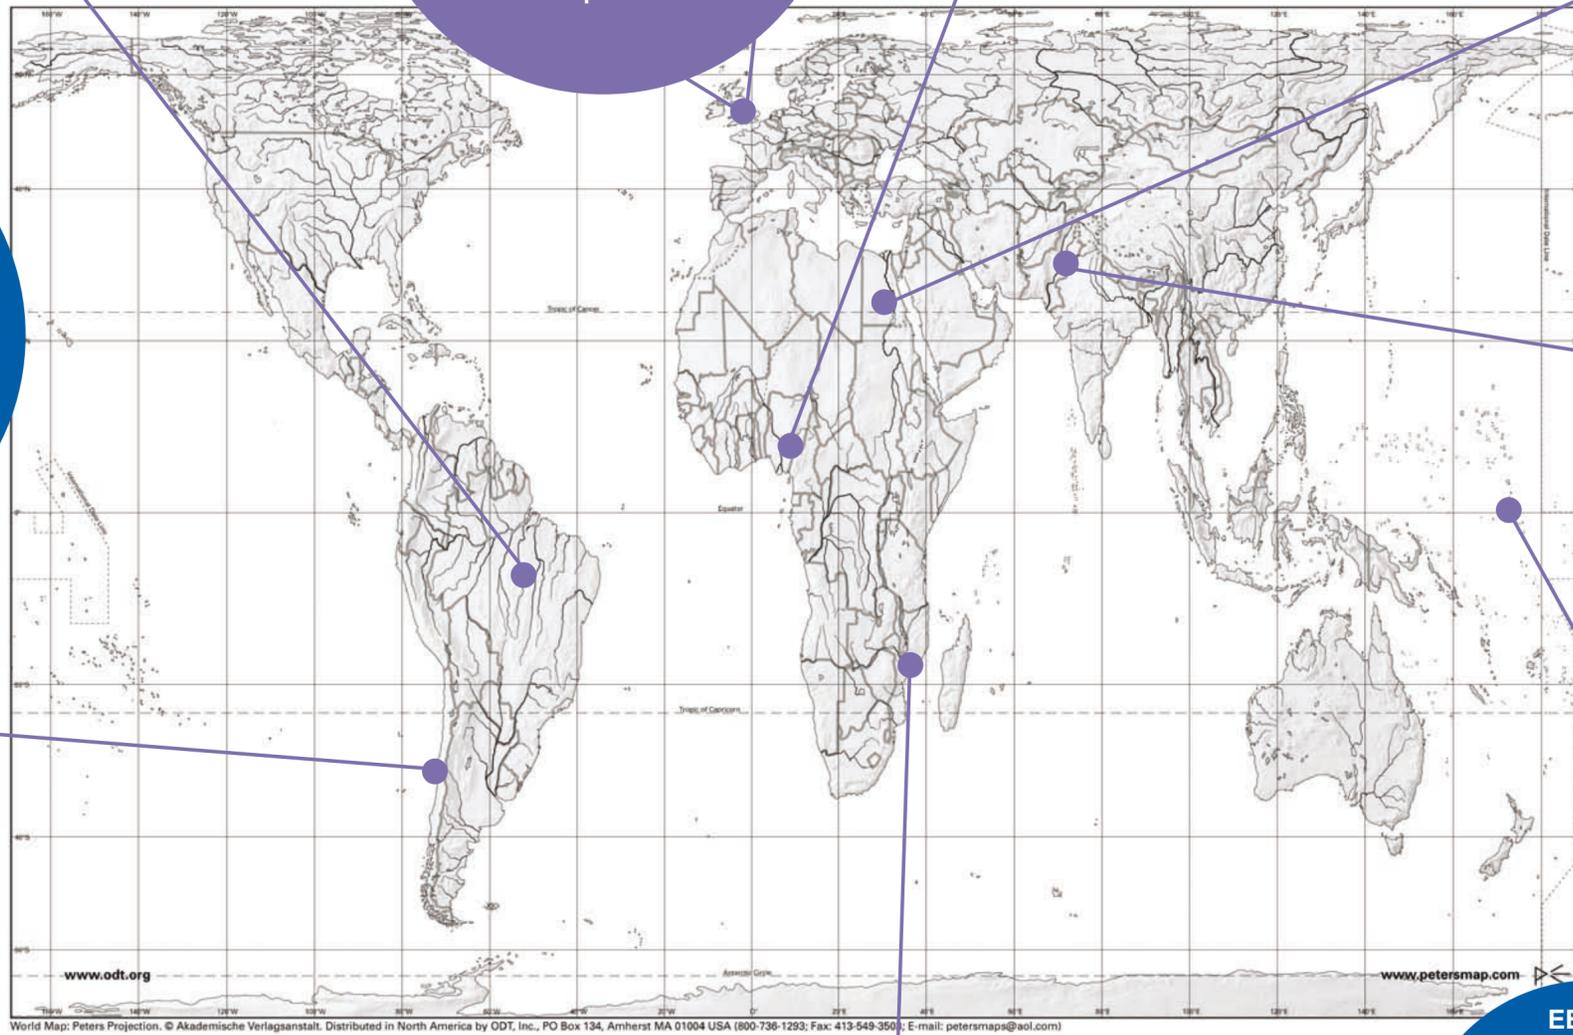

Girl Child Empowerment Nigeria shares information and campaigns on inclusive education and girls' rights in Nigeria.

The Seti Center (Caritas Egypt) Inclusive Education Project in Egypt encourages teachers to use diverse teaching methods that suit the needs of all children. EENET is working to increase the amount of Arabic language documents about inclusive education.

Join EENET!
Find out more about inclusive education. Help us to add more stories to the inclusive education world map

Colourful surroundings promote creativity in learning in Colegio Francisco de Miranda, Chile. A participatory workshop using EENET's action research guidelines helped teachers analyse challenges and possible solutions in inclusive education.

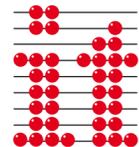

A tent school in Pakistan set up for refugees following the 2005 earthquake uses child-friendly approaches and has teaching staff from within the refugee community.

A parents' support group in Kiribati - parents support each other and advocate for their children's education rights.

Across South, Central and South-East Asia, EENET Asia is helping more people to document and share their experiences of inclusive education.

Sponsored by:
Inclusive Technology
www.inclusive.co.uk

EPF Cabo Delgado in Mozambique trains disabled teachers and advocates for their equal employment. This is an important way to promote inclusion in education and address the shortage of teachers.

EENET
c/o ESI
School of Education,
University of Manchester,
Oxford Road, Manchester,
M13 9PL, UK.
T: +44(0)161 275 3711
F: +44(0)161 275 3548
info@eenet.org.uk

EENET celebrates
10 years of networking!
1997 - 2007